Hare: Dish – Pagewood Hotel

Starters Gun

Bingo's new Fitbit Ionic read 5:55 when she finally located the back bar of the Pagewood Hotel – she didn't recognise it from the front and thought she was in for a (new) treat!

The appalling pall of smoke may have deterred some, but the die-hards started to arrive with jackets fending off the cool wind and eyes red-rimmed with smoke exposure. Slotcard threatened to return to Kogarah where blue skies prevailed but changed her mind when QR reminded her she'd only have Slops for company. Spinifex assisted a considerably-damaged Carpet Burn into the Pub; the conversation all about breaks and bulges. Cold Duck and Dundee were ready to find some low fences but Joker decided the smoke and a recent little meniscus tear qualified him for the Walker's Pack. Scotch Mist and Rabbit were going to shadow Blondie.

Goldmark, Moa Goa, Venus and Taxing caught up after various holiday and travel adventures. Dirty Weekend arrived doing her best 'Terrorist' impersonation in dark padded, hooded jacket and scarf wrapped round her face. Sir Les was watching the time but it was Duck's duck that lead the Pack out into the maelstrom. Hannibal, who is much on the mend after his hip replacement elected to not push the envelope and keep the front of the directionally-challenged Walkers pack on (an abbreviated) trail.

Dish's Dazzling Daceyville Dance

And God said these elite Sydneysiders don't know what real smog's like so let's give them a taste of what it's like in Delhi & Beijing most days when breathing becomes a major exercise in survival. 6:00pm became midnight & we were back to winter type runs as the temperature dropped to just above freezing according to CB, which we thought a little strange as she lives in Suzhou, where the temp would be close to that freezing point at this time of the year.

Then Duck quacked On but Bingo, new watch on arm, suggested it was only 6:29. Now for a woman who is traditionally punctual (read that as being at least 30 minutes early for everything – probably be waiting at the cemetery for her coffin to arrive), it seemed a little out of character. But On the smallish pack went (Hannibal & Joker still nursing injuries, CB exhibiting a number of major problems including wankers wrist – have to change hands at a hundred & Tickle, who was otherwise disposed at taxpayers expense) led by Goon showing amazing exuberance for someone with a dicky knee.

The first set of lights allowed Dundee to show his ability to read green traffic lights but not red walk lights as he sprinted across Bunnerong Road to the amazement of pedestrians & traffic alike – silly old bastard. All that meant he was first to the first long On Back of the night, thereby placing him at the back of the pack – served him right.

Across a park, where Duck, Scotch Mist & Sir Les became lost due to them not following trail but Blondie had rediscovered her tracking instincts, with the aid of the map & having already walked the trail, to send everyone on a circuitous, intertwining route around Daceyville. Keeping the pack together back across Bunnerong Road & into numerous lanes with Circles until the second On Back of the night sent Dundee on a particularly long run but, when confronted with the double arrow return, realised he was the only one stupid enough to do it – silly old bastard. Blondie had taken pity on the rest of the pack & shortcutted them to the trail again.

It was here that Dundee showed his Hash prowess by running though the On Back & into a winding street that ended up on Bunnerong Road again, thereby removing all contact with the pack or trail – silly old bastard. The rest of the pack persevered with the rest of the trail, arriving just after Goon & noticing Dundee on his second beer, getting dressed at the carpark.

An excellent run Dish, with a dazzling array of winding streets, well worthy of the high mark given.

On On Anonymous.

Après Trail

Somehow the front of the Pack arrived last; Duck and Sir Les throwing “short-cutter” accusations at Dundee, who had arrived 5 minutes earlier. Cannon and Bower Bird opened the Bucket as Dish set up some yummy munchies to whack back those 200 calories lost on the trail! Jack joined us to confirm (again) that a run in Maroubra would outclass any Shire event. Hot Dick and Ice Box had returned with the Walker’s pack which raised Sir Les’s curiosity as he demanded an explanation from Bingo – apparently the pen is not only mightier than the sword, it knows everything!

The Bucket has a way of loosening tongues.. Doc, without the usual encouragement by thumb-screws, the Wrack or Water-boarding, volunteered an explanation for His and Blondie’s tardiness at the start of last week’s run. Stopcock had provided a detailed listing of the Bucket requirements. Blondie had followed it to the letter except later found that the Pinot Noir Chardonnay she purchased was bubble-less! Fearing the repercussions of a Harriette revolt, they quickly returned the case of ‘Flat’ and exchange it for the bubbled variety.

RA’s Report

Pagewood

- used to be called Monash Gardens after Sir John Monash, who is credited with playing a very big hand in winning WW1.
- Famous for National Film Studios across the road – opened in 1935 – Bowerbird remembered opening night was a huge affair
- Made many famous Aussie Films – Overlanders in 1946, Eureka Stockade in 1949, & Summer of the Seventeenth Doll in 1959.
- Dundee was an extra in a number of these films
- But, most notable thing about Pagewood, & the Pub – Ian "Turps" Turpey used to run the Trivia here.
- On one memorable Hash night, we were all returning from putting our food orders in, & walking past the Trivia area, Slops called out one of the Trivia answers - "Turps" was not impressed
- Turps was an icon of Australian entertainment Industry
- A regular on Bandstand, Graham Kennedy Show, Mike Walsh Show & Bert Newton Show
- He hosted "The new price is right"
- Appeared in shows like Homicide & appeared in many Aussie movies
- His girlfriend back in the 60's was none other than Olivia Newton John.
- And, sadly, he ended up doing Trivia at Pagewood Pub !
- He died of Cancer at age 69 in 2012

Run Review

Sir Les provided us with a review of Dish's run:

- I didn't expect it to go that way! I was expecting the usual route.
- The run zig zagged through the streets and into Parks.
- We covered some interesting suburban streets we'd not seen before.
- Lots of arrows and on-backs.
- Dundee having decided to ignore the last on-back left the rest of the (miniscule) running pack behind.
