

Convict Trash

Run 1752: 15th June 2020

Hare: Dundee - Kogarah

Starters Gun

We all looked a bit stunned, as if walking not a Pub for the first time in our lives! Several of the Pack were already at socially-distanced intervals; Goon, Tickle, Hannibal, Grewsome, Sir Les, Rabbit and Slops (on his pre-trail 5th beer) all seated as was required. Kogarah Hotel Manager, Rachelle was run ragged ensuring that names and numbers were recorded and that the allowable seating was occupied. Most of the Harriettes rolled in last including Taxing, Venus, Dish, Sniffer Dog, Goldmart, Grenade, Slotcard and Spinifex.

QR took a table for himself but was soon joined by Cannon Mouth, Bowerbird and Lyndsay.

The Pack flowed out the rear of the Pub, seemingly eager to get on trail. Enthusiasm stalled for a minute of two before Dundee, who as usual was Trail Master for his own run; put the first arrow done.

Run Report

Doddery Dundee's Dragonian Drudge

Big smiles everywhere as the run was set in the heart of Dragons territory & the useless bastards had decided to play some reasonable football resulting in only the third win in twelve months. String Bean was smiling from above & all was well in the world as Slops was suggesting this was the first of many & it was now obvious they would win the comp this year. Was Ravalawa the best attacking player or the worst defender in the world? Who cares they won & that's the last you're going to hear from me about them in this discourse, unless I change my mind.

Doddery had decided that it was about time people should check out the start, just like old times, which meant everyone just hung around like Brown's cows awaiting directions - think we need to employ a cattle dog. So it was that the silly old bastard spewed forth with the old story about the arrows being on the right unless they were on the left or in the middle & everyone moaned so he displayed the first arrow of the night, sending the group south (that's to the left of west & the opposite of north for Bingo) that'll confuse her.

In the absence of his sons, Grewsome had decided to take the lead with Duck & SLAP, where they met the first On Back then the first check of the night. Canookie, displaying her athletic ability & keen sense of understanding trails, found arrows to the west as Grewsome & his entourage headed south towards Dragon headquarters. North on Railway Parade to the underpass & another check, which was quickly found by Canookie again - she must've been reading Dundee's brain (is that an oxymoron?).

Heading south up the hill to a couple of more On Backs, before heading west on Verdun Street then north to a check on Queen Victoria street (will we be asked to change that name as well?) & Slops, standing to attention, having decided the hill stuff was a bit difficult, shortcutted, then, miraculously found trail down the hill towards Marist Brothers school. Up the hill to another On Back then back down to a Check that took us under the Railway Bridge & a further On Back near the highway. North again to the famous St. George pub (did I mention they won a game on the weekend?) & across the highway heading east, hurdling a couple of road blocks then a precarious meandering through the tennis club.

It was here, Doddery reckons, that he intended to exit up some steps to the shopping centre but it was closed (bullshit we all said) so he had to send everyone on a bloody long run around West Botany Street & as the trail master was running past him Pig was heard to say fuck at least twenty three times. Bingo was complaining of dodgy knees (must've been from the 36 position in the Kama Sutra) & everyone else was just panting like rabid dogs (Canterbury supporters).

Across the highway again, the walking group were still talking (not like the runners, who were still panting) called On On to a couple of late runners before they headed up another bloody hill & to a very welcome bucket – thanks Stopcock. Grewsome suggested he was going to give it ten out of ten if it was sent around Kogarah Oval 20 times but decided to give it five, which is 4.5 more than it deserved.

On On Anonymous.

Circle Up

RA's Report

Cold Duck took a few moments and a raised voice to corral the Pack into a semblance of a Circle. Slops thought it an opportune moment to let everyone know he was willing to get a bit closer and share his diseases.

With order slowly descending Duck Declared:

- Not talking about Dick tonight. I'm sure most of you have had enough of Dick.
- Tonight; talking about Slotcard and Grenade's thick and hard boyfriend – Bruce Lee of course – Kogarah's favorite Son One would think that Bruce was born in China or Hong Kong, but no, he was born in San Francisco in 190 and is buried in Seattle. Bruce moved to Hong Kong when he was 3 years old. His father got him involved in Martial Arts when he was young as he kept getting into street fights
- When Bruce mastered Martial Arts, he was still getting into street fights (this time winning), so his father sent him to the USA to study. This is where he got into TV and Movies – by the time he was 18 he had appeared in 20 films.
- Bruce was credited with changing the way the western world viewed Asians and sparking interest in Martial Arts in the western world.
- Bruce had a few hits with Films and TV series in the last 60s and early 70s such as "The Green Hornet", "The Big Boss" and the major hit "Way of the Dragon. His most famous film was "Enter the Dragon released in 1973. Sadly, he died before it was released, He died 1973 aged just 32.
- Bruce was on the set of another film, complained of a headache, was given a prescription pain killer – Equagesic, lay down, slipped into a Coma and died.
- Bruce's son, Brandon, died at age 28 when he was shot on a film set by a gun that was meant to have blanks in it but had live ammunition.

Run Review

Grewsome decided to rain on Doddery Old Dundee's run:

- It was clear that the run didn't have the intention of keeping the Pack together as the Walkers were back and had half emptied the Bucket by the time the Front runners appeared.
- Given the location of the run and Dundee's passion for the St George NRL Team, the Pack expected to be woven around the Kogarah Oval to admire his heroes but NO – we had a good look at Bruce Lee instead.
- What trail has ever found itself with Slop's in poll position?
- Typical of Dundee's challenging trails, expecting it to go one way; it went another!
- We expected to run near the Tennis Club (an old AGPU venue); we did more than that, running straight through the tennis courts as keen Wimbledon Wanna-be's practiced their shots.
- We also made it as far north as the St George Hotel Rockdale, another of our repeatable Run favourites.
- Rabbit was heard to lament the length of the run (now that she hurtles along mid-pack) and was advised by the Trail Master – none other than the DOD to toughen up!

A great dunny read coming your way again....

Visitors:Lyndsay, Ice Box, Hot Dick, Scott, Curtseying

SLAP was challenged on the payment of his Bucket Fee and swore that he had paid some lovely lady for something while on the Run!
